Paradigm™ to Open New Training and Technical Briefing Facility in Aberdeen

State-of-the-art facility offers advanced training tools for growing global client base

(AMSTERDAM, Netherlands: October 9, 2008) Paradigm™ (www.pdgm.com), a leading provider of enterprise software solutions to the global oil and natural gas exploration and production (E&P) industry, announced today the scheduled opening of its new training facility in Aberdeen, Scotland. Guests are invited to the official opening ceremony on Tuesday, October 21, 2008 at 4:00 PM BST.

This full-time training facility offers state-of-the-art high-performance workstations running Linux and Windows operating systems, complete with twin, 24" flat screen monitors that maximize learning Paradigm's multi-canvas workflow-based software. Computational equipment is complemented by dual overhead projection and the latest in Interactive White Board technology (IWB's) allowing both trainers and students to get the most from each and every program.

"As part of Paradigm's continued global growth its commitment to the broader E&P community, we are delighted to announce this expansion and the opening of our new technology training facility," said Richard Jefferies, Paradigm regional vice president, EA. "Situated on a secure floor in the historic Blackfriars Congregational Church, the center will provide clients with state-of-the-art offsite training and fully-equipped, private facilities for customer briefings and technical review sessions."

In addition to Paradigm training courses, the facility can be scheduled by customers and clients to conduct other meetings, events and training.

For scheduling training and other inquiries, or to schedule time at the training center, please contact: Paradigm at +44-1224-649-555 or email training_info@pdgm.com, or online at www.pdgm.com.
